You are my Splendid Friend

Original Author Unknown

Sung to the tune of "You Are My Sunshine"

You are my splendid friend
My very splendid friend
You make me happy
In many ways.
You'll never know dear
How much I like you

From <http://www.everythingpreschool.com/themes/friendship/songs.htm>

I like you, I like you
Yes I do, Yes I do
Friends are for sharing
Friends are for caring
I like you, yes I like you

IF You Aree WHAT? And You Know It ...

Based on a traditional song

If you're happy and you know it, you clap your hands ... but what if you are sad? Angry? Shy? Scared? How do people show their feelings? Add more actions to each emotion, based on suggestions from the group.

If you're happy and you know it, clap your hands
If you're happy and you know it, clap your hands
If you're happy and you know it,
Then your face will surely show it.
If you're happy and you know it, clap your hands.

Sad ... give a cry, make a frown, etc.

Angry ... stomp your feet, pout your mouth, hands on hips, etc.

Excited ... jump and cheer, clap your hands, shout hurray, etc.

Scared ... shake in fright, duck and hide, give a gasp, etc

Shy ... hide your face, turn aside, etc

Tired ... yawn wide, take a nap, etc

Old MacDonald Had a Goose, Who had a Friend Named Bear

(Sung to "Old McDonald Had a Farm") -

*Old MacDonald had a goose who had a friend named Bear
They like to read and liked to write whenever they would play
With a honk-honk here and a roar-roar there Here a honk, there a roar
*these splendid friends played all day long *Old MacDonald had a Goose who had a friend named Bear.

*Variations: Use child's first and last name instead of Old McDonald and his/her instead of these.

Susie Johnson had a goose.....
.....her splendid friends played all day long.....

I'm a Little Gosling/ Polar Bear

(Sung to: "I'm a little Teapot")

I'm a little gosling born in the Spring
All soft and fluffy
so happy I could sing
When I see the other geese, I honk with glee and wiggle- wobble, wiggle- wobble to the sea
I'm a little polar cub born in the spring
I come out from my cave looking white and thin when I see the snow and feel the wind
I stomp my way to eat and swim

The More We Get Together

(Sung to: "Did You Ever See a Lassie?")

The more we get together, together, together the more we get together, the happier we'll be.
For your friends are my friends, and my friends are your friends,
the more we get together, the happier will be
